"I first met Lisa after I attended one of her seminars and was so impressed, I reached out to her to support an initiative at my organization. I enlisted Lisa to deliver customer service symposiums over a series of months to our front-line bankers and tellers. Her energy and ability to engage the participants resulted in rave reviews and waitlists! She is just a fantastic speaker, and she can draw you into whatever topic she covers. You leave not just learning information, but learning something from a new perspective that stays with you."
